FIRST SUNDAY OF LENT (C)

WEEK COMMENCING 6TH MARCH 2022

St. Luke's account of Jesus' temptation in the desert is beautifully constructed. Jesus is tempted for forty days, a familiar number in the Bible. We hear details only of the last three temptations, after the completion of the forty days. We can note that Jesus replies to us, the hearers of the Word, rather than to the devil himself. The first temptation is to put physical needs before spiritual, something which we see so much of nowadays. Lent is a time essentially of spiritual renewal, controlling physical desires especially through fasting. The second temptation is to power, understood as dominion of the world, with the means being adoration of the devil; we could consider Putin's recent actions in that light. The way to true power on earth is by service of God. The final temptation is to seek a special relationship with God, one in which God serves the person, tempting God himself. This is commoner than we might think, as people make prayers to God which essentially turn God into their own personal miracle-worker. These few words just scratch the surface, there is much more to be found in the passage, happy hunting. Fr. Chris
