TWENTY- FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (C)

WEEK COMMENCING: 22ND SEPTEMBER 2019 - PARISH MASS BOOK PAGE140

Dear friends, as many of you know, I am a student for the priesthood, studying in Rome and am privileged to spend holiday times in our parish in Colchester. The summer has gone very quickly and I will be leaving on Wednesday 25th September to return to Rome. Many people say to me, 'It must be wonderful living in Rome with all those churches to choose from and so much to see,' or they mention Italian cooking as being very enjoyable. Whilst both are true, I actually prefer my simple college chapel to the elaborate Roman churches and although I enjoy pasta and ice cream it is the sunsets that I love in Rome the most. From late evening, you see the sky gradually turn into a scene of melting liquid crimson, orange, red and scarlet, and then purple before it is night. I often look at it and wonder at God's creation as well as asking myself if St. Peter and St. Paul, when they arrived in Rome, looked at the same sunset in admiration?

I have always liked the thought of people I know, even though I am not with them, being under the same sky, moon and stars. It is a chance to pray for them knowing that our God, our one Heavenly Father, also watches over them. Please be assured of my prayers when I travel back to continue my studies and thank you all for allowing me to share in your spiritual lives whilst I have been here.

God bless, Deacon Adrian
